The world of wedding rings can be a repetitive one. The same diamonds, the same look, the same story. Toronto-based jewelry designer Erin Tracy takes a more personal approach, inspired by the individual and how each piece fits the body. With an expansive price range ($900-$5600) and a quest for balance, Tracy works with brides-to-be to perfect their needs. The clean, solid pieces and unique lines can be worked from scratch with a custom piece or applied to an existing ring and her brand spankin' new space in Liberty Village is boasting with one-of-a-kind pieces perfect for sharing your union.
