

Farmgirl Fashionista

Friday, July 23, 2010

The watercolour look, for less.

Sadly few, if any, of us were invited to the Veuve Clicquot Polo Classic in New York in late June.

But if we were, the watercolour-print Saloni frock and House of Lavande bracelet Alexis Bledel (a.k.a. Rory Gilmore) wore to the event would top our shopping list.

In lieu of ponies and Argentinean men, we'll satisfy ourselves by recreating the look back here in Canada and paint the town red — and blue and purple and yellow — while wishing our croquet mallets were longer.

Sterling silver and acrylic bracelet, $180, Erin Tracey Designs.